Great Improvement IN COOKING STOVES .- Consumption of

Smoke and Que, and Saying of Fuel .-The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he has added to his fermer variety of Stores, a new Polented Gas-burning COOKING STOVE. It is well known that all inflammable matter requires a certain amount of air to support combustion, and if the supply is insufficient, it is impossible to produce a flame.—

The heat-of the fire, in ordinary cooking stoves, decomposes the fuel, and as all the fresh air is admitted under the grate, its oxygen is exhausted before it has passed through the fire-chamber. The close fues at the top of the sovie, then act as an extinguisher, tending to put out the fact, instead of assisting the combustion. A large portion of the fuel, therefore, passes off in the shape of swoke, clogging up the flues of the store so as to impede the draft and interfere with the baking, -or of invising gas which combines with the lime and so destroys:the mortar of the claimneys, logsening the bricks, and exposing the dwellings to the danger of fire. The introduction of an additional supply of cold air, would cool the gas below the agniting temperature, but by the proper ap-degrees (which is one of the prominent features of the patent), the gases are inflamed in numerous jets, and their combustion is and then to heat the oven even if the draft through the directamber is entirely closed. In escition to the ordinary direct draft union the grate and through the fire-chamher, the gus-burner has an additional draft through the top plates which is of itself suf-ficient to maintain combustion. The apper draft not confly consumes the gases, but it helps to strengthen and preserve the centre pieses, which are most exposed to the direct pieses, which are most exposed to the direct action of the read which are made double instead of the usual single plates. By means of this draft alone, all the operations of cooking can't de carried on when the fuel is but partially ignited, and the fact consequently buens more slowly and more economically.

A sufficient evidence of the effect of the gases in heating the oven, is found in the fact that the oven will be ready for baking, even before the fire is unoughly kindled, and

Great Improvement N COOKING STOVES .- Consumption of

Smoke and Gas, and Saving of Fuel.— The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he has added to his former variety of Stoyes, a new Patented Gas-burning COOKING STOVE.

It is well known that all inflammable matter requires a certain amount of air to sup-port combustion, and if the supply is insuflicient, it is impossible to produce a flame. --The heat of the fire, in ordinary cooking stoves, decomposes the fuel, and as all the fresh air is admitted under the grate, its coxygen is exhausted before it has passed through the fire-chamber. The close flues at the top of the stove, then act as an extinguislier, tending to put out the fire, instead of assisting the combustion. . A large portion of the fuel, therefore, passes off in the shape of swoke, clogging up the flues of the steve as as to impose the draft and interfere with the beking. —or of invisible gas which com-lines with the lime and so de-troys the mortarof the eltimineys, loosening the bricks, and exposing the dwellings to the danger of fire. The introduction of an additional supply of cold nir, would cool the gas below the againing temperature, but by the proper ap-plication above the fire, of air previously ficuted to a temperature of several hundred degrees (which is one of the prominent feacures of the patent), the gases are inflamed in numerous jets, and their combustion is sufficient to heat the oven, even if the draft through the fire-chamber is entirely closed. In addition to the ordinary direct draft under the grate and through the fire-chamher, the gas burner has an additional draft through the top plates, which is of itself sufficient to maintain combastion. The upper draft net only consumes the gases, but it helps to strengthen and preserve the centre pieces, which are most exposed to the direct action of the fire, and which are made double of this draft glone, all the operations of cooking can be carried on when the fuel is but partially ignited and the fuel is but partially ignited, and the fuel consequently burns more slowly and more economically.

A sufficient evidence of the effect of the gases in heating the oven, is found in the fact that the oven will be ready for baking, even Lefore the fire is thoroughly kindled, and much sooner than in any other store.

County Treasurer.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitlated, blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not decembe. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, discreted or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous master, which, in the lung, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubestally in the glands, swellings; and on the standard in the glands or sores. This foul corrections or sores. This foul correction the genders in the blood, depresses the genders in the black, depresses the fife, so that scrofulous constitu-tion of the first form scrofulous com-paint, has the fact for less power to with-tend the first form of the perish by disorders that the first form of the perish by disorders which, the first first first first that the thirt in the which, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. It of the consumption which decimates the suman family has its origin directly in this ecrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or bre aggravated by the same cause. One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it.

To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by the strong the blood by an alterative medicine, and in-vigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in their action can rarely withstand or evade them Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every partion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical dehility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Custivisies: Heartburn, Hendache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Marchid Inaction of the Bacels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the heavy or obstruction of its functions. of its functions.
